To: All Training Officers of the Agency

SEMINAR: CHINA AFTER MAO

DESCRIPTION

The Office of Training will offer a Seminar, "China After Mao," for three and one-half days, 11-14 October 1977. This program, proposed in a memorandum to selected Agency components early this year, will concentrate on an intensive examination of key substantive issues relating to the People's Republic of China (PRC) today. The Seminar will consist largely of presentations by experts from the scholarly community and from other government agencies, most of whom have visited the PRC in recent years. An effort will be made to accompany these presentations with discussions led by CIA specialists, drawn mostly from within the class, who will focus on the relation of the substantive coverage to the intelligence mission. Selected readings will be provided.

Among those contributing will be:

[Redacted]
"Politics in China"

STATINTL

[Redacted]
"The Economic Scene"

STATINTL

Edward Ching-te Chao, geologist, U.S.
